Consider long-term storage if:

- Your fertility center restricts how long they offer storage privileges
- Your fertility center has limited storage space
- Your fertility center is closing

Experience

Long-term storage of reproductive specimens has been available to clients at our affiliated infertility center, Genetics and IVF Institute, for more than 30 years. Fairfax Cryobank has extensive expertise in cryopreserving, storing and transporting frozen specimens. In fact, we have safely transported frozen specimens to and from physician practices in all 50 states and many foreign countries.

We have several convenient storage facilities located in Fairfax, VA, Austin, TX, Houston, TX, Philadelphia, PA, Roseville, MN, and Pasadena, CA.

Convenience

- Convenient credit card billing system for payment
- Direct contact with you and your current clinic regarding the transfer and disposition of your embryos, oocytes and sperm
- Expandable storage system to handle frozen samples in all types of packaging (vials, straws, vitrification devices)

Testing

Unlike other storage providers, Fairfax Cryobank does not require additional testing on your specimens before transferring them to our facility. The security provided by our vapor phase liquid nitrogen storage system allows us to accept reproductive specimens for storage regardless of the level of testing you may have undergone. However, an additional fee is applicable to clients requiring quarantine storage.

Affordability

Storage fees are assessed per storage client, regardless of the number of embryos, oocytes or vials of sperm being stored. Visit our website for a complete list of storage and shipping fees. We offer monthly storage rates as well as discounted rates for longer terms (one, two, five or ten year options).

Safety

Our storage facilities are equipped with the latest technology and include state of the art redundant alarms. Auto fill storage tanks are equipped with backup power and an additional empty storage tank is kept onsite as a designated auxiliary freezer. The storage tanks are set up with independent temperature and liquid nitrogen level monitoring to provide continuous preservation of your stored reproductive specimens. Multiple tank alarm call out systems are in place on each tank providing additional safety measures 24-hours a day, seven days a week.
